Assorted Sizes to Fit
All Size Dogs!

"A few years ago one of our beloved dogs, Brass, had a problem with a rawhide chew. It was a scary experience we won't forget. We're thrilled there are safe alternatives, like Nutri Chomps, to satisfy our dogs' natural desire to chew!"

—Jungle Jack Hanna

Jack Hanna

PORK SKIN VS. RAWHIDE

Q: WHY WAS IT DEVELOPED?

Nutri Chomps were developed specifically with a dog's health in mind.

Rawhide is a by-product of the leather industry and the result is anything but a treat.

Q: HOW DO HUMANS USE IT?

We eat it! Pork rinds are made of fried pork skin. Pork skin can also be pickled and even turned into pancakes!

Purses, shoes, belts, or any leather product. Though a dog might chew on your leather shoes, this product was not made to be ingested.

Q: IS IT A DIGESTIBLE CHEW?

According to a leading veterinary university, pork skin is 99.9% digestible after 24 hours.

Beef rawhide is only 50-80% digestible, leaving the remaining chew to create a blockage in a dog's stomach. It is uncomfortable for the dog and can even require surgery to remove it.

MOVE OVER RAWHIDE... PORK SKIN CHEWS ARE HERE!

GLOBAL FOOD SAFETY INITIATIVE CERTIFIED!

Premium Nutri Chomps are produced in GFSI certified facilities. GFSI is an international organization formed in 2000 to establish consistent regulations for human food production. These global food safety standards address food, packaging, storage and distribution. Scott Pet's Nutri Chomps are produced in one of the few pet product manufacturing facilities in the world to receive GFSI certification. The ultimate goal was to give distributors, retailers and end consumers the highest level of confidence and quality assurance.

Curved Buckle

Keeper and Curved Buckle

Curved Buckle

Our collars feature curved buckles, which fit the contour of a dog's neck and body. Made of heavy-duty chrome-plated steel, these buckles are as strong as they are comfortable.

Extended D Collars

The extended D Collar is the strongest collar we make. Three layers of nylon help reduce stress on the two weakest points of a collar - the tongue of the buckle and the D-ring. We recommend this collar for a strong puller and for tying a dog out.

Center Ring Collars

Our Center Ring Collar has been the preferred field collar for decades. The center O-ring helps roll the collar if it gets caught or snagged and is ideal for easy attachment to a lead.

Keepers

To prevent fraying & chewing, each of our collars is equipped with a tough floating keeper.
